Short description of the Society (preferably no more than 2000 characters)

The Swedish Society of Nephrology (SNF) was established in 1965, is a section of the Swedish Society of Medicine and it comprises nephrologists but also other specialists with interest in Nephrology. The aim of SNF is to promote the continuous development of nephrology by arranging scientific meetings and discussions. Two national meetings are arranged every year. We collaborate with other societies of nephrology, and together with Island, Norway, Denmark and Finland i.e. the Nordic Society of Nephrology we have biennial meetings. The society is active in issues regarding specialist training and annually arrange a specialist exam for new nephrologists.
